

About Brent Steiner

Brent Steiner is a branding and technology expert in real estate and business-to-business marketing. He is behind many integrated branding campaigns for real estate developers nationwide, and has bridged the technology/marketing gap with several Fortune 500 companies, including ESPN and Ford. Brent also speaks on technology trends, SEO and branding in the digital age.

C-level executives and marketing directors rely on Brent's unique ability to translate the languages of creativity and technology into the language of business. His companies have worked with several technology start-ups to define their brands and market potential, seeing many through from initial concept to their eventual sale or funding.

Brent is a cofounder of Creativity For Rent, a marketing and design firm serving the real estate industry, and President of The Design Mine, a B2B branding and design firm.

Brent resides in the Denver area with his wife Kristin and their three children, ages 6, 10 and 16.

Please call 303.668.48671 or email brent@creativityforrent.com.